Remember the special surprise gift to one lucky winner at the end of the gas card drawings?

The hint was → “The winner will love it. The winner will enjoy looking at it and showing it to friends and family.”

The surprise gift is an enlarged, matted and framed photograph taken by Dr. Falkenroth during a weekend trip to San Francisco. The photograph shows the long set of stairs and walkways along with the foliage at Telegraph Hill. This is a very special place where a community of wild parrots have settled. We heard that there is even a documentary about these Wild Parrots of Telegraph Hill. For those of you feeling adventurous, it’s a special place to visit. Just be careful since the stairs are long and made of wood and can be slippery. The climb up back to the COIT Tower parking lot can be challenging if you’re not in shape. One option is to have someone pick you up at the bottom of the stairs to avoid having to climb back up.

☺ Congratulations to the winner of this special framed photograph Rose Chavez!!!
